

60. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 18 wherein the application program receives recommendations from application program interfaces for further processing without showing the recommendation to the user.

61. (Previously Presented) The method of claim 11 wherein new recommendations generated by the server are added to the database for statistical purposes and expanded user selections.

62. ~~(Previously Presented)~~ <sup>(Currently Amended)</sup> The method of Claim 1 wherein a metadata vector represents the current sensor signals; characterizes the current state of the wireless device, and combined with the user activity as the context-activity pair. ~~A current environment of the current state of the wireless device~~